

GET FAINT CLUE TO DISAPPEARANCE OF TRADEWIND

FIRST INDIANA
LIQUOR-MURDER
TRIAL ON JAN. 26Five Youths Accused Of the Death Of Girl
Arraigned Today

Crown Point, Ind., Jan. 13.—(UP)—Five young men charged with first degree murder in connection with the death of Arlene Draves, 18, during a drinking party last November, pleaded not guilty when they were arraigned today before Judge Martin L. Smith in Lake county Criminal Court.

Judge Smith granted a motion for separate trials for each of the defendants and set January 26 as the date for the first trial. Virgil Kirkland, a former suitor, who was Arlene's escort on the night of her death, was ordered to go to trial first. Kirkland obtained a change of venue to the Porter county Circuit Court at Valparaiso when his attorneys went before Judge Smith later with a motion declaring a fair trial could not be obtained in Lake county.

The five youths were neatly dressed and appeared little concerned when they entered the crowded courtroom. Under an Indiana statute it is possible for convictions to carry death sentences.

Defense attorneys have announced they will base their case on the contention that "prohibition liquor, not the boys, was responsible for the attacking and killing of the girl." Temperance organizations have been aroused over the statement.

The other defendants are Paul Barton, David Thompson, Leon Stanford and Henry Shirk, all of whom are charged with attacking Miss Draves. Dates for their trials will be announced after the Kirkland trial is completed, it was said.

WOMAN PUT TO DEATH TODAY IN HUNGARIAN CITYSlayer Of Husband And Son Hanged: First
In Generations

Szolnok, Hungary, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Crying "God help me," Frau Marie Kardos was hanged today in the prison courtyard here in atonement to the state for murder of her husband and 22-year-old son last year. She was the first woman to be hanged by court sentence in Hungary for many generations.

Frau Kardos, who was one of 40 women who appeared in the group poisoning trials of last spring and summer and one of three to receive the death sentence, lost the faded emu which marked the early denials in the few days preceding her death. As execution became imminent she was stricken with terror at the prospect of the gallows.

She ate heartily in her prison cell last night, a bowl of goulash being allowed her for her last dinner. There followed a period of prayer with friends and a protestant clergyman, interrupted once when the hangman came to weigh her so as to calculate the measure of her fall from the scaffold. She sprang back screaming but was reassured when her friends told her the executioner was a doctor.

This morning she arose and dressed unassisted and sipped a cup of coffee before being led weeping into the prison courtyard where seventy persons were assembled to witness her death. She prayed there again for a moment and then was led to the gallows where the president of the court read the sentence of death to her. Concluding, he addressed the executioner: "Hangman do your duty."

The executioner's two assistants seized her gently, bound her arms and legs, and tightened the noose about her neck. As the stool on which she stood was kicked from under her she cried: "God help me, and then dying, repeated the single word, "God—"

An attending physician pronounced her unconscious within a few seconds and dead in eight minutes. Her body was left on the gallows for half an hour and then cut down and placed in a coffin in the prison morgue.

PILOT IS KILLED

Cascade, Idaho, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Rev. Fisher, 23, Anaconda, Mont., pilot was killed last yesterday in landing a five-passenger plane on West Mountain while seeking stray cattle. Four passengers escaped death in the crash. Charlie Coleman, the most severely injured, suffered a broken leg.

TOO MANY VISITORS
Hammond, Ind., Jan. 13.—(UP)—James Severn, 32, went to St. Margaret's Hospital to "surprise his wife." He found Charles Boch also calling on her. In the quarrel that started in the hospital and continued outside, Severn charges Boch slashed him with a razor. Severn remained at the hospital as a patient.

TRAGIC COINCIDENCE
Long Beach, Cal., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Two women, close friends, fell dead while talking on the telephone yesterday.

Mrs. Sylvia Schofield died while talking to a friend. The latter, upon learning what had caused the sudden end to the conversation, called Mrs. Mary Luttin to break the news. Mrs. Luttin heard of the death, she, too, slumped to the floor dead. Both women were active in the work of the American War Mothers.

COLLARS ARE CRUEL
Chicago, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Some dogs are wearing collars until even for a dog, Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin said as she began a search among hardware dealers in an effort to stop sale of the "objectionable" neckware.

The former famous dancer started her hunt for dealers selling them after she said that two dogs, brought to her animal shelter "Orphans of the Storm" in Deerfield, had been found to be suffering from the effects of such collars. One of them, she said, was lined with carpet tacks, with the points turned inward and the other was a chain affair with a piece of wire at the end of each link.

FORGOT TO RETURN
Chicago, Jan. 13.—(UP)—Dr. Henry Amberson took another girl to a homecoming football game and then forgot to come back to his own home until 4:30 o'clock the next morning. Mrs. Nellie Amberson charged today in her suit for divorce.

In reply, Dr. Amberson testified that he didn't even go to the homecoming and the girl, Miss Florence Wardell, testified that although she went to the game, she didn't go with the doctor.

Mrs. Amberson charged desertion because of the homecoming affair that says wasn't a homecoming. In a counter suit, Dr. Amberson charged his wife had fits of temper and bit him with his medical instruments and a floor lamp.

A CLOSE SHAVE

Chicago, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Imagine lying in a barber's chair getting a shave and seeing one's own automobile jumping right through the front window.

That was the experience of Martin Meyer yesterday. He leaped just in time to escape getting hit. His car had been struck with such force by another machine, driven by Clarence Johnson, that it was forced through the window.

No one was hurt, but Meyer had Johnson arrested and Judge Alfred O. Erickson fined him $100, which police said they recalled was the same amount he paid in court not so long ago for losing a custodial pie at a young woman who was trying to tell him a poppy to aid ex-service men.

"MURDER AT BRIDGE"

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 13.—(UP)—When John Bolin, 34, saw his bridge partner, Mrs. John Ashley, trump his ace, things happened about as follows:

Bolin arose and kicked over the table.

He struck Mrs. Ashley with his fist and shoved her husband.

He smashed furniture and windows and a glass door.

Captain Joseph Joasart and Patrolman John Carey each received one blow before they got him into the patrol wagon.

He fought, bit and scratched all the way to the jail.

He struck George Martin, 61, a fellow prisoner.

PRODIGAL SONS' RETURN HOME IN STOLEN NEBRASKA CAR TERMINATED
IN LEE COUNTY JAIL LATE MONDAY

Charles Lawson, aged 16, 4240 Henderson avenue, Chicago, and Robert Beaver 15, 3801 Addison avenue, Chicago, left their homes one week ago yesterday and embarked on a tour, headed for the Pacific coast, where they planned to remain during the winter months and possibly permanently. Hitch hiking and riding trains furnished the boys with plenty of thrills until they arrived at Omaha, Neb., when they realized that their funds, which represented weeks of savings, were almost depleted.

A long distance had been covered and the temperature was about the same as in Chicago which discouraged the boys and Sunday morning they decided to return to the suburbs. They walked into the suburbs of Omaha and had poor success in obtaining a ride in cars which sped by them. Finally they discovered a model A Ford sedan parked along the curb, the keys in the switch and this gave them an idea. Yesterday afternoon, State Highway Officer Hal Roberts while riding on the Lincoln Highway just west of Ashton, met the pair as they were on the final leg of their return journey to Chicago. The officer halted them for questioning and decided that the Nebraska license plates were on a stolen car and brought them to the county jail at Dixon. Questioned there they admitted having stolen the car Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock and said they were on their way home, tired of their week's exploits in their California-bound jaunt. The boys had six cents in money left when stopped. They are being held at the county jail while an effort is being made to locate the owner of the automobile.

HAROLD HYDE'S
FUNERAL TO BE
THURSDAY MORNArrangements For Last

Have Been Changed

The funeral of Harold S. Hyde, whose sudden death from a heart attack at his home in Bay City, Mich., Monday morning was announced in last evening's Telegraph, will be held 11 o'clock Thursday morning at the home of his parents-in-law, Prof. and Mrs. H. V. Baldwin, 410 North Dement Ave. instead of at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, as had at first been arranged and announced last evening. In the absence of Rev. Fr. R. C. Talbot of St. Luke's Episcopal church, that clergyman's father, Rev. Fr. R. C. Talbot, Sr., of Sterling, will officiate; Miss Sara Elizabeth Rink will sing, and burial will be in the Hyde lot at Oakwood.

The funeral party will arrive in Dixon at 12:50 o'clock tomorrow noon and the body will be taken to the Baldwin home, where Mr. and Mrs. Hyde visited last summer.

Was Native of Dixon

The deceased was born in Dixon about 40 years ago and his boyhood and youth were spent here, where everyone who knew him became his admiring friend. He was a man of the highest character and finest personality, genial, kind, generous, exceptionally industrious and ambitious and adhering to lofty ideals in all things.

At Bay City he held a very responsible position with a radio-cabinet manufacturing concern, his employers holding him in great esteem. A letter received by Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin this morning, written Sunday by their daughter Ada, wife of the deceased, related that he had been complaining of a pain in the region of his heart, but stated that he had kept at his desk as usual.

Mr. Hyde was preceded in death by his father, Arvne S. Hyde, who passed away several years ago while holding a responsible position as head of the abstract department of the Chicago Title & Trust Co., and by a brother, Philip. He is survived by his widow; his mother, Mrs. Arvne S. Hyde of Chicago; three sons, Harry Roy Dixon of Polo, Mrs. William B. Ewing of Chicago; three uncles Charles Hyde of Denver, Will Hyde of DeKalb and George Hyde of Duluth; a sister-in-law and niece Mrs. Philip Hyde and daughter Miss Elizabeth of Duluth, Minn., and a cousin, daughter of Mrs. Ewing of Chicago.

Freeport Phone Co.
Abandons Its Plea

Chicago, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The Stephenson County Telephone Company, serving principally the city of Freeport, asked the Illinois Commerce Commission today to dismiss its application for an increase in rates. Because of the general industrial depression. The request was granted.

Ben B. Boynton of Springfield, attorney for the company, said the new schedule was filed last May, before the depression had seriously affected Freeport. Recently, he explained, the Supreme Court ruled that inter-state phone call rates do not fall under the jurisdiction of state utility boards, and he realized that such service had to be culled from the schedule. The company, however, had had opportunity to see the depression, Boynton said, and concluded to drop the whole case.

LONG ILLNESS OF
JNO. SALZMAN IS ENDED BY DEATHWell Known Former Dixon Merchant Passed Away Last Eve

John Salzman, resident of Dixon for the past half century and for years prominent in the business life of the city, passed away at his home, 103 Artesian Avenue, last evening at 5:30. Death ended an illness of many weeks duration, during which time he had been a patient sufferer throughout his painful ailment.

John Salzman was born at Wedelbach Hessian Cassel, Germany, Dec. 3, 1848. He came to Metamora, O., in 1866 and three years later, in 1869, came to Lee county where he has since resided. He came to Dixon in 1873 and in 1876 opened up a meat market which he continued to operate until his retirement from active business life in 1912. He was united in marriage to Magdalena Paulhaber, August 21, 1880. To this union, six children were born. August and Louise who preceded him in death, and Anna, wife of Charles Krug, Josephine, John E., at Dixon and Fred of Polo, who survive with the widow to mourn his passing. Four grandchildren, his brother Conrad S., of this city and a sister, Mrs. Martha Messer of Dysart, Ia., also survive him together with a brother, Frederick, residing in Germany.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Immanuel Lutheran church Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. A. G. Suechting officiating and interment will be in Oakwood.

Mrs. Willard Knapp
Of Ashton Is Called

(Telephone Special Service)
Ashton, Jan. 13.—Mrs. Willard Knapp passed away at her home on the Lincoln Highway, west of Ashton at 9 o'clock Monday evening after an illness of some duration. Funeral services will probably be held at the home Thursday afternoon, Rev. C. D. Wilson of the M. E. church officiating and with burial in the Ashton cemetery.

Ida Breunler was born in Bradford township Jan. 1, 1865 and was married Dec. 5, 1893 to Willard Knapp who survives, together with five children: Adrian of Ashton, Vernon of Texas, Burrell of Ashton, Mrs. Vera Johnson of Madison, Wis., and Miss Edna of Chicago. One son, Russell, passed away a few years ago. A brother, William Breunler of California, also survives.

Armory Thieves On Three-Year Parole

(Telephone Special Service)
Freeport, Jan. 13.—George Bush, Lloyd Moore and Paul Akeman, Dixon youths, who were named yesterday in Federal indictments charging them with stealing government property from the Armory at Dixon, pleaded guilty and each was sentenced to serve a year and a day in the Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kas. They were admitted to probation, however, for a period of three years. In granting the probations Judge Woodward admonished the youths of the gravity of their offense and reminded them that the slightest infraction of the probation terms would mean that they would be taken to prison without further opportunity to make amends.

AT SISTER'S FUNERAL.
Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ryan returned Sunday night from Chicago where they attended the funeral of Mr. Ryan's sister, Mrs. Albert Simpson, nee Lennie Ryan, formerly of Dixon, who passed away very suddenly Thursday evening. Besides her husband and one son, John, of Chicago, she is survived by four brothers, Frank of Marion, Ind., James of Sullivan, Ill., Charles of Quincy, Ill., Ben of Chicago. Interment was made in Acacia Park cemetery.

Had To Let Go
But the bricks were hot and Jones had to let go. Down the chimney he slid, shouting as he went and back-firing a lot of smoke into the kitchen of Mrs. Jessie Burkes, who was frying pork chops.

Jones went past the first bend in a hurry, but he stuck in the second. It was just a few feet above Mrs. Burkes' cook stove.

Mrs. Burkes shouted in the kitchen. Jones shouted in the chimney. Up on the roof, Ebeby shouted, too. Jones shouted the loudest. What he wanted most was for somebody to "please put out that fire," Mrs. Burkes did.

A lot of Ebeby's fellow policemen went to help him. They called the fire department and a big hole was chopped in the chimney, freeing Jones, who was slightly baked and blacker than ever. Incidentally, Mrs. Burkes' pork chops were ruined.

MARYVILLE, MO.
QUIETLY WAITS
EVENTUALITIESThe Sheriff Says He Will Name Lynchers If
Asked To Do So

Maryville, Mo., Jan. 13.—(UP)—Having methodically and with little excitement lynched a Negro accused attacking a white girl, the community of Maryville waited quietly today to see what, if anything, was to come about it.

Sheriff Harve England, who was injured by a mob that took Raymond Gunn by force, chained him atop the school house where he admitted he had killed Velma Colter, and burned him alive with the building, showed no disposition to arrest any of the ringleaders, although admitting he knew their names.

He said, however, that if either a grand jury or Gov. Henry Callaway asked him the names he would tell them.

"I didn't want to aggravate that mob," England explained in telling why he had not called upon 60 National Guardsmen to stop the lynching after Gunn was taken away from him.

The guardsmen had been sent to Maryville in anticipation of trouble when Gunn was arraigned on a charge of murdering Miss Colter, who taught in the school house which became his pyre. They were only a few blocks away when the mob surrounded the car in which England was taking Gunn to court.

"I had heard something about those Guardsmen with their popguns," said England. "I was afraid they would get on the streets with those guns and hurt somebody."

The guardsmen were powerless to try to prevent the lynching as they had no authority to interfere unless specifically requested to do so by county authorities.

Mother Hopes For Return Of Child

Chicago, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Mrs. Kathryn Morony said she still hopes the well-dressed woman who kidnapped her baby daughter, Mary Agnes, eight months ago today, would bring the child back.

"Please say," she told a reporter, "that I've forgiven that woman long ago. After having a baby for two years and suffering for her, you can't forget her. I'd do anything to get her back."

The woman who took the child gave her name as "Julia Otis" and posed as a welfare worker. When she left she said she was going to take the child for a walk to buy her some clothes, but no trace of her was ever found. Letters were subsequently received from "Julia Otis," saying she was taking the child to California.

AMATEUR BANDIT
MADE TWO ERRORS
IN FIRST HOLDUPViz: Held Up Officer: Hid
In A Flue With Fire
At One End

Chicago, Jan. 13.—(UP)—Charles Benjamin Jones made two serious mistakes when he started out to be a bandit.

1. He tried to hold up a policeman.

2. When he got away he tried to hide in a chimney with two bends in it and a fire at the other end.

The first people Jones met, Mitchell Hamilton, Negroes, both very black, not after they decided to be bandits were Detectives Edward Hazard and Kenneth Ebeby, in plain clothes. They tried to hold them up.

The detectives drew their guns. Th amateur bandits ran. Hazard caught Hamilton easily. Ebeby chased Jones and shot at him, but he couldn't catch him or stop him.

Jones ran up a fire escape. Ebeby followed, still shooting. They went through hallways, up stairways and down stairways, with Ebeby always close behind and shooting frequently.

After slipping once a window and on to a roof, Jones, in desperation, jumped into a chimney, thinking he could hold onto the edge and remain hidden until Ebeby gave up the chase.

But the bricks were hot and Jones had to let go. Down the chimney he slid, shouting as he went and back-firing a lot of smoke into the kitchen of Mrs. Jessie Burkes, who was frying pork chops.

Jones went past the first bend in a hurry, but he stuck in the second. It was just a few feet above Mrs. Burkes' cook stove.

Mrs. Burkes shouted in the kitchen. Jones shouted in the chimney. Up on the roof, Ebeby shouted, too. Jones shouted the loudest. What he wanted most was for somebody to "please put out that fire," Mrs. Burkes did.

A lot of Ebeby's fellow policemen went to help him. They called the fire department and a big hole was chopped in the chimney, freeing Jones, who was slightly baked and blacker than ever. Incidentally, Mrs. Burkes' pork chops were ruined.

That the thieves who battered down two doors of the Farmers Store at Sublette at an early hour Sunday morning intended to move out a large portion of the stock, but were frightened away, is the opinion of officers from Sheriff Fred Richardson's office, who made a survey of conditions yesterday afternoon.

A heavy plate glass in a door in the rear of the store was first broken, but the thieves were unable to gain entrance, several sacks of poultry grit piled against the door blocking an entrance.

Going to the front of the store, they broke in another heavy plate glass and crawled in. Two lined work coats in one display window

Aug. 19, 1929—Oscar Kaeser and Kurt Luescher, young Swiss fliers, in flight from Lisbon, Portugal, to America.

Oct. 22, 1929—Urban F. Dileman, in the "Golden Hind," flying from Harbor Grace, N. F., to London.

Jan. 6, 1931—Five fliers in squadron of Gen. Italo Balbo, in takeoff at Bolama, Portuguese Guinea, on flight from Rome to South America.

FOOD LOANS TO FARMERS VOTED DOWN IN HOUSEDrought Relief Bill Is Sent To Conference Today

By THOMAS L. STOKES
United Press Staff Correspondent.

Washington, Jan. 13.—(UP)—The House voted today against a $15,000,000 food loan to farmers.

By 215 to 134, the House defeated a motion to instruct its conference committee on the pending drought relief bill to accept the Senate amendment calling for the loans.

The direct test vote on the food loan amendment followed adoption of a special rule to send the bill to conference. House administration leaders had attempted all week to prevent a vote on the Senate amendment, and it had appeared as if they would have their way.

The House, 215 to 143, adopted the special rule, the Democrats registering their protest against alleged "tag rule" in this way. The actual vote on sending the bill to conference, however, was 333 to 4. Rep. Garner, Tex., Democratic floor leader, had led the protest, but instructed his colleagues that he was in favor of sending the bill to conference.

The bill now goes to conference with the Senate without instructions. A motion of Rep. LaGuardia, Rep. N. Y., to eliminate references to farmers, making the bill apply also to city dwellers, was ruled out of order by Speaker Longworth.

No such executive as "president" as the head of a nation has ever existed until the United States proposed and adopted the idea.

About one-third of the people in the Netherlands still wear wooden shoes.

In some parts of the stricken areas, the Chief Executive said, small communities have been affected both by the drought and general business depression.

The Red Cross has been called upon to take care of sufferers in these communities as well as in purely rural sections.

The additional $10,000,000 asked combined with what is left of the $5,000,000 set aside by the Red Cross some time ago appears to President Hoover to be sufficient to meet the demands.

Unless the $10,000,000 is raised, Mr. Hoover said, many persons in the country will lack necessities of life.

Gyros Failed To Locate A Coon

Members of the Gyro club of Dixon enjoyed a novel entertainment last evening. After the regular weekly dinner, the club members donned old clothing and went in cars north of the city where they started following coon hounds on a trek through a heavily timbered section. The Gyros returned home at a late hour, thrilled with the experience of following the hounds, but unsuccessful in locating a coon on their first hunt. It is reported that Atty. Edward Jones encountered a pack of ferocious wolves, in his escape from which he emerged sans some of his wearing apparel.

Freeport Industry
On New Pay Basis

Freeport, Ill. Jan. 13—(AP)—The Raleigh Industries, essence and drug manufacturers, today put their factories on an 8-hour basis with 9-hour pay, W. T. Raleigh, president, announced.
Raleigh, in announcing the new schedule, said he believed that better factory planning and management improved machinery and equipment would enable the industries to continue normal production on shorter hours with little if any increase in costs.

Tunney Wins Suit
By Default Today

New York, Jan. 13—(UP)—Gene Tunney was awarded a victory by default today when attorneys for Max "Boo" Boo of Philadelphia, notified counsel for the retired heavyweight champion that a suit for 20 per cent of his ring earnings had been discontinued.
The suit, scheduled for trial today was based on an alleged verbal agreement.
"The discontinuance was not the result of any settlement," George Whiteside, Tunney's legal adviser, said. "No money was paid to Hoff and no negotiations were had with him."
The action left Tunney free to sail for England with his wife, the former Polly Lauder, at the end of this month to visit George Bernard Shaw and other friends.

Attacks Status In Bureau Murder Jury

Princeton, Ill., Jan. 13—(AP)—Illinois mixed-jury law, passed by the last legislature and approved in a referendum last November, was tested for the first time in the murder trial of Roy Petkus today.

H. R. Brown, counsel for Petkus, charged that the law under which the venire of both men and women was drawn does not become effective until July 1, 1931.

Judge Joseph A. Davis said he would rule today on the legality of the venire. Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom has ruled the law became effective as soon as the voters approved it.

Petkus, alias Peters, went on trial yesterday in Bureau county Circuit Court on the charge of slaying Gus Poet, Spring Valley resort proprietor, last July 21. Poet's daughter, Mrs. Margaret Puffa, identified Petkus as the man who robbed her father of $190. He was arrested in Chicago after a gun fight with officers.

The defense has indicated it will plead insanity.

LITTLE HEIRESS
TOOK NIGHT OUT;
DENVER AROUSED

Girl, 13, Was Thought Kidnaped Until An Early Hour Today

By WILLIAM H. BAILEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Denver, Jan. 13—(UP)—Alice Humphreys, 13, one of Denver's "eldest girls, and described by her mother as "a lonely little girl in a mansion" decided on a "night out" last night. She took it, and before she was restored to her mother's arms today, caused one of the most excited searches Denver ever had seen.

Alice was tucked in bed by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Boyd Humphreys, when they left for a party shortly before 11 p. m. Alice decided she, too, would go out for the night.

She put on her hiking outfit, consisting of overalls, a sport shirt, a light weight brown jacket, and hiking oxfords. She failed to put on her stockings, and therein lies the story.

Wrote Mother Note
Alice wrote her mother a note, advising her not to worry. Then she tip-toed downstairs, carefully avoiding awakening her grandmother, the widow of the late Col. A. E. Humphreys, oil multimillionaire, and the staff of servants.

She started out ringing doorbells along fashionable Seventh avenue. The night was cold, but Alice's spirits were high and she wandered far before her shoes rubbed blisters on her skinning feet.

Her spirits lowered as the blisters raised. Finally her feet began to bleed, and she became confused, chilled and dazed, she was unable to find her way home.

Alice wandered to the estate of Thomas Hoel Lawrence, in Montclair, a suburb, which she recognized as being the home of Jack Lawrence, also 13, and a friend of hers. It was then 1 a. m.

While roaming around the grounds, she encountered William Beckwith, the Lawrence chauffeur, who thought she was a run-away from a nearby orphanage. Beckwith took Alice to the servants' quarters, and awakened two maids to administer to the dazed and nearly frozen heiress.

Had Smeared Face
Alice had smeared her face with a black cosmetic and the servants, who might have recognized her, failed to do so because of the cosmetic which they mistook for soot.

Meantime, Alice's parents returned home. They discovered her disappearance, and recalling a threatening letter received some time ago, immediately spread an alarm. Telephone roused Denver's police officials from their respective beds.

Within a few moments they were enroute to the Humphreys' home. Police squad cars rushed through the streets, sirens screaming. Extra editions of the newspapers appeared on the streets. Officers, looking mysterious, dashed about in search for clues.

Commander Leslie Bratton, retired Naval Commander now in charge of law enforcement in Denver, prepared to deal with the kidnappers. He alerted Humphreys when they presented ransom demands, as he felt sure they would, within a few hours.

The Lawrence heard of Alice's disappearance, and did in fact all that he could to assist the search. They were unaware that the missing heiress was at the moment asleep on a divan in the servants' quarters, having refused to tell who she was.

They discovered her just before breakfast, and Alice's "night out" came to an end as her distraught parents, accompanied by police squad cars, pulled into the Lawrence grounds and took her away.

"I've got my baby back, and that's all that matters," said Mrs. Humphreys. Alice was taken to the home of her maternal grandfather, T. Putnam Patterson, where she was attended by Dr. David V. Bayless, of the Humphreys Philanthropic Foundation.

"The case is solved," announced Chief of Police Robert F. Reed.

Huckins, Jr. Gets
New Trial In Iowa

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 13—(AP)—The Iowa Supreme Court today reversed the conviction of George Huckins, former cigar store and baseball owner at Cedar Rapids, on a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses from Emil Levens.

Huckins was convicted by a jury in the Linn county District Court last March as the result of the operation by himself and his father of a mysterious financial venture which investors testified paid dividends of 25 and 52 per cent.

The father, Elmer S. Huckins of Hancock, Wisconsin, was convicted last fall. His appeal to the Supreme Court has not been passed upon.

The case was remanded for retrial. The younger Huckins had been sentenced to seven years in the state penitentiary.

TRUE BILL IS FOUND AGAINST
LEO BROTHERS

Indictment is Returned
By Cook Co. Grand Jury Late Monday

BULLETIN
Chicago, Jan. 13—(AP)—Robert P. Cantwell, Sr., a member of the legal staff defending Leo V. Brothers, asserted today that he was a witness of the killing of Alfred Jake Lingle last June 9 and that Brothers was not the assassin.

Called into conference with the St. Louis gunman's attorneys, Cantwell said from his own viewpoint he was convinced of Brothers' innocence for he himself had seen the Tribune reporter shot down in the Michigan Boulevard pedestrian tunnel. He said he had never been called by the prosecution.

The slayer, Cantwell declared, had a cauliflower right ear.

Brothers' defenders, after conferring with him, said they were seeking records to show their client underwent an operation shortly before the murder which would have made his participation impossible.

"When I walked in to see my client today," said Cantwell, "I did so with my heart in my mouth, for I saw Jake Lingle killed. Brothers is not the man who shot the reporter. I saw the man shoot and saw him jump over the railing and make his escape. The person who fired the fatal shot had a cauliflower right ear."

Chicago, Jan. 13—(AP)—Leo V. Brothers, St. Louis gunman, was under indictment today for the murder of Alfred Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter.

The grand jury returned a true bill against him yesterday after hearing three witnesses, Otto Svoboda and Warren Williams, reported to have been eye-witnesses to the slaying, and Police Captain John Stege, former Deputy Commissioner in charge of detectives.

"All I want to say," Brothers said on his way to county jail, "is that I don't know anything about the murder." He added that he had never seen Lingle.

At the jail Brothers was greeted by his mother, Mrs. Cordell Jessen, who said she "knew he didn't commit the crime," and by his attorneys, Tyrell Krum and Louis Piquett. They said they had located Brothers' father, V. Harvey Brothers, a barber, and expected to interview him today.

They added that the elder Brothers had been in touch with his son at various times since Brothers fled from St. Louis, where he was wanted on a slaying charge growing out of a "taxicab" war.

Prior to his indictment Brothers was held incommunicado since his arrest last December 21 as the man who fired the bullet into the back of Lingle's head last June 9. Nine witnesses, investigators said, had identified him as the slayer.

"It Girl's" Checks

Los Angeles, Jan. 13—(UP)—Tabulated checks totaling $350,000 and all drawn against Clara Bow's account within 18 months were presented today in Superior Court, where Daisy Devoe, the actress' former secretary was on trial on 37 counts of grand theft.

The checks, 1558 of them in all, were introduced as evidence yesterday, but Judge William C. Doran ordered Benjamin B. Odell, Hollywood bank manager, to take them home last night and return them today, tabulated and sorted.

Deputy District Attorney Dave Clark selected five checks which he contended were drawn by Miss Devoe without authority of Miss Bow, her employer.

In each case, the former secretary contended were drawn by Miss Devoe for household furnishings and necessities.

Drys Of Illinois
Meet, Plan Fight

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 13—(UP)—Plans for attacking any effort on the part of the present session of the state legislature to repeal the state prohibition enforcement act were formulated today by prohibition leaders of Illinois who gathered here.

Executive committee members of the Illinois Anti-Saloon League conferred on measures to be presented at the General Assembly when it meets tomorrow. Plans for a fight against the resolution introduced by Senator Earl B. Searcy, which asks Congress to call a constitutional convention with a view to placing control of liquor in the hands of Congress itself, also were discussed.

School Instruction For O. E. S. Was Exceptionally Fine

The school of instruction conducted by Mrs. Florence Henneke of Aurora, Illinois for the Dorothy Chapter, No. 371, Order of Eastern Star which was held at the Dixon Masonic Temple Monday afternoon and evening was an exceptionally interesting one. It began early in the afternoon and continued until 11:30 p. m. The members were grateful indeed to have Mrs. Florence Henneke, delegated to Dixon as instructor for she is very popular here. Her pleasing and attractive manner have made many friends among the Dixon people. She is being entertained during her stay here by the new worthy matron, Mrs. Nellie O. L. Gearhart.

There were a number of out of town visitors, the majority of whom were from Sterling and Rock Falls. The practice and the drill work which the new officers have had brought out much favorable comment from the instructor and the visitors. An elaborate supper was served at 6:30 p. m. and the committee who had charge of arranging this well deserve the praise which they received.

A number of changes have been made this year in the Chapter work and it was necessary that as many members as possible know about these changes. The attendance including the out-of-town guests was estimated at about sixty members. Initiation of full classes of candidates is planned for each of the next two or three meetings.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

DEFENDING THE YOUNG
It is not true that all young people in the United States are violating the prohibition law, nor is it true that all want the Eighteenth Amendment repealed or modified. It is true that thoughtless people do not realize the connection between law observance and law enforcement. Law observance is not a political question, it is not a subject for propaganda.

BLISS CARMAN
Bliss Carman sang as the wild-bird sings.
Of joy to live, and saw Gladness in all created things.
Proclaiming Love is Law!

Miss Carman sang as the poet sings, Of beauty everywhere—In flowers and trees and soaring wings, Which all who see may share.

Miss Carman sang as the prophet sings, Of God, the pure, the true! His song a living message brings, He sang because he knew.

—Donald Bain.

Missionary Society in Pleasant Meeting

The Women's Missionary Society of the Christian church met at the home of Mrs. Ward Hall, Thursday evening, and was opened by all singing "What a Friend We Have in Jesus."

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Mundy, Mrs. Kindig had charge of the meeting, and she led the devotions also. Mrs. Rice as leader of presentation told of Sister India, Mrs. Peckham and Mrs. Newcomb. Mrs. Seyster also gave interesting readings. Mesdames Kindig, Newcomb and Parks told about the different types of people in India.

The fellowship period proved most inspiring and was followed by the serving of dainty refreshments. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Kindig in February.

Former Amboy Girl Weds in California

ganda. It is a question of loyalty to the Constitution and to the flag—it's symbol. When we entered the World War, thousands of young men and women volunteered for service. The psychology of the moment encouraged participation in the war. A new war is on—a war against the enemy threats constitutional government itself. The Eighteenth Amendment was adopted after years of consideration, and after many methods of dealing with the liquor traffic had been tried. The people were aroused to action under the slogan, "Down with the Saloon," which was to them symbolical of all evils connected with the drink habit and the drink traffic. Prohibition was the nation's defense against the saloon. Let us rally to the Constitution as rallying young people for the flag we rallied to the flag in time of war. Men gave us prohibition, for it came before woman suffrage, and it is of ten said women must win this war, but it is the youth of America who must hold prohibition. Youth's roll call is the answer of youth to those who are defying the government. It stands for obedience to the letter and spirit of the Eighteenth Amendment. It is the enrollment of young people who are loyal to the Constitution and to the flag for which it stands. A half million have already enrolled. A million young people answering youth's roll call can change the psychology on law observance. Let's go!

On January 16th, we celebrate the eleventh birthday of National Prohibition. Let us mark the occasion by the psychology on law observance. Let us rally to the Constitution as rallying young people for the flag and the Constitution and presenting youth's roll call for signatures at all such celebrations. Let us follow it in all organized Bible classes where there are young people between the ages of fourteen and thirty and at all young people's societies. Let us demonstrate to the world that the youth of America are as loyal to the Constitution as they are to the flag.

WIRELESS IN THE DESERT.

Wireless messages are going to fly across the Arabian desert pretty soon, all the way from the Red Sea to the Persian Gulf.

Mecca, the forbidden city, where temple bells chant psalms for those who are believers, will have a wireless telephone and telegraph. King Ibn Saud has entered into a contract with the Marconi company for 15 stations.

Civilization is sweeping into sacred ground, and now when the caravans start their wanderings, they will be in contact with the world outside.

Of course the old order must always give away to the new, on the eastern desert as well as by the northern lake where Arthur cast his sword when the Round Table broke up forever. Progress is as typical of adventure and romance as any knight that ever wore a crimson doublet and rode a snow-white steed.

But there are many people in the world today who read with a sense of loss the notice that the wireless has conquered the desert. They haven't sat on the golden sands and dreamed through star-strewn nights. They haven't watched the swarthy faces of the white-robed sheiks or heard the softened magic in the rhythm of their voices. They haven't caught the scent of spiced perfumes and incense when the rugs swung apart where some arab pulled his tent.

But the very fact that there was an outpost, far to the East, untouched by anything more than the color of their own desires, where caravans were as secluded now as they were in Bible days, has caught the fancy of those who dare to dream.

When life became too practical, too full of realism so necessary for success, they could close their eyes and remember that somewhere the storied land lay untouched.

It will still be there. The caravans will plod their way as they have done for thousands of years. But the sense of slipping off into a medley of silver nights and warm, gold days, all rudders cast aside, will change the journey.

Most of the people who long to preserve a little of the old order will never see it. They must spend their time at desks; before machinery; back of the counter. Cairo and the Shalimar are as forbidden to them as Mecca itself. But always they have one word in their mind. Some day . . .

And a wireless message flashing out from the spot where a caravan has pitched its tents, while it makes for safety and efficiency, and will save lives and time in war, somehow spoils the old picture.

So many dreams must live and die in our hearts. No one can say that the world is lacking in romantic progress today. The very fact that voices go drifting around the world and ships fly high above the clouds disproves all of that.

But somehow the desert was a secret world of mystery. And now it, too, has joined the modern improvement society.

MODERN WITCH CRAFT.

There is a streak of curiosity in human nature that costs about $125,000,000 annually. John Mulholland, a professional magician, says that this sum is spent every year by people who consult fake fortune-tellers, astrologists, phrenologists and crystal gazers, trying to tear away the veils of the future.

Ever since the Witch of Endor lived in a cave some place near Jerusalem, and found out a thing or two for King Solomon, people have been making the same kind of pilgrimages.

As a rule the fake fortune-teller manages to give some encouraging information. The power of suggestion is strong. People become happier, expectant of something good, and since they are in the mood, perhaps good fortune is caught more easily.

The psychology of prophecy is a powerful factor. Of course, it is a shame to see $125,000,000 wasted. But it may be that some small percentage of it comes back with interest. Not because the fortune-teller can read tomorrow's calendar. But because he probably does bring a little happiness when he forecasts a roseate future.

American transportation experts are to teach Russians how to operate their railroads. They'll enjoy the distinction of being the first to "train" the Soviets.

Dorothy thinks that the railroad amalgamation in the east should serve to strengthen ties.

George Bernard Shaw says the Russians make the best movie films. The manner in which they carried out their conspiracy trial would indicate they are at least capable of putting across a good show.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURE BY KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinies climbed out of the truck and Clowny shouted, "This is luck. I love to watch real fishermen, when fishing's really good. They all seem happy as can be. A lot of fish we'll likely see. I'd like to run right out and help those natives, if I could."

The Travel Man said, "Wait, my son. Just watching them will be real fun. The way they fish is different than any way you've known. A line and hook they seldom use. And very few fish do they lose. You see, they have big basket nets, a way that's all their own."

"They wade out where the water's deep and there they stand, all trying to keep real quiet for a little while. And then they drag real quick. The baskets pick up fish galore. The natives drag them in to shore. We'll watch them while they do it. You'll agree it's pretty slick."

And so the Tinies watched and saw a sight that filled them all with awe. The natives did just as the Travel Man had said they would. They shortly caught their share of fish. Enough to make a tasty dish. Wee Scouty gave them credit, shouting loudly, "Gee! They're good!"

The fishermen soon stopped and then the Tinies moved on again. "Let's journey to Victoria Falls. It's quite a sight to see," exclaimed the kindly Travel Man. So to the truck the Tinies ran. They shortly reached the Falls sight and 'twas pretty as could be.

"Come on," the Travel Man cried out. "We'll hike down close and look about! They reached a rocky ledge where they could get a dandy view. And there they stood for half an hour. The water dropped down in a shower. "Oh gee, it's wondrous," Clowny cried. "The water's green and blue."

(The Tinies meet a native girl in the next story.)

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

GEORGE FOX'S DEATH

On Jan. 13, 1691, George Fox, founder of the Society of Friends, or Quakers, died in London.

He started out in life as a shoemaker, but when convinced that he was the subject of a special divine call, he adopted the career of an itinerant religious reformer.

Fox first attracted attention as a youth of 25 when he arose during a sermon in a prominent Nottingham church and rebuked the preacher for declaring the authorship of the Scriptures to be the source of divine truth. "It is not the Scriptures," cried out Fox, "it is the Spirit of God." For this he was imprisoned. He was subsequently jailed several times as a disturber of the peace.

His leading doctrines or convictions were:

1. The futility of learning for the work of the ministry.
2. The presence of Christ in the heart as the "inner light" superseding all other lights.
3. The necessity of trying men's opinions and religions by the Holy Spirit and not by the Scriptures.

NEW RECORDING DEVELOPMENT TO BE DEMONSTRATED

Patrons of Dixon Theater To Hear "Noiseless" Picture Soon

"What I consider to be as great an advance in the art of talking motion pictures as the talking pictures themselves were over the old silent kind will be demonstrated when our theatre shows 'The Right To Love' Wednesday and Thursday," states manager Rorer of the Dixon Theatre. "This picture was recorded by the Western Electric New Process Noiseless Recording and will be a revelation to those hearing it. It eliminates all extraneous sounds, hissing and scratching noises. As a result the voices of actors and actresses attain a remarkable life-like quality."

"I have had expert engineers of the nation-wide service organization of Electrical Research Products make a thorough check of the sound system and theatre," continued Manager Rorer. "No effort or expense has been spared to give our patrons the full benefit of this new system of Noiseless Recording. Our patrons are assured of as fine reproduction as can be obtained in any theatre in the United States."

The new system was developed in the West Coast Laboratories of Electrical Research Products, subsidiary of Western Electric. Already it is in use by some of the major producing companies.

The development of this new process is a result of many years' work on the part of sound engineers to eliminate the "ground noises" which have marred the perfect enjoyment of talking pictures. However, now it is possible to record and reproduce in theatres the faintest of sounds without having them "masked" or covered up by these extraneous, hissing and scratching sounds. Every syllable of even the softest spoken words, whispering and the sobbing of a distressed heroine now become clearly audible. The new process produces a greater realism and is a great step toward perfection of the talking pictures it is claimed.

The W. R. C. quilting club met at the home of Mrs. Wayne Prince Friday afternoon. There was a good attendance and a considerable amount of work was accomplished. The quilters received a surprise in the form of a delicious lunch served by Mrs. Prince.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Q. Coffey, Mr. and Mrs. William Iske, Mr. and Mrs. George Wales, Mr. and Mrs. William Diehl entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Bair and family at a six o'clock dinner at the Coffey home Friday evening. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Scheil of Winnetka, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Scheil. The Bair family will leave next week for their new home in Champaign.

Miss Mary Hackett spent Thursday in Chicago.

Miss Marian Weaver submitted to a major operation at the Milledgeville hospital Saturday.

TENDS FURNACE AT 90

Great Barrington, Mass.—(UP)—Husbands who abhor the task of tending the furnace may learn a lesson from Mrs. Mary P. White. Though 90 she tends her own furnace, shoveling coal, carrying out the ashes, and performing other duties incidental to caring for the temperamental monster of the cellar.

ASHTON NEWS

ASHTON—Ashton subscribers of The Telegraph should pay their subscriptions to John Thome, county circulator, or at the newspaper's office in Dixon.

Prof. L. V. Slothower, Smith-Hughes instructor of the Ashton high school and the "AG" classes of the high school announce that they will sponsor a corn and poultry show January 22-24. A small entry fee will be charged for exhibits to assist in financing the show and cash prizes. Last year Prof. Slothower and his boys put on a most successful show with many exhibits and were rewarded by a large attendance, and this year's event promises to eclipse that of last year, everything is being done to make the show an outstanding event.

Beulah Ballengee, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Ballengee living on the Res. Mall farm, met with a painful accident Saturday evening as they were returning from Rochelle. Just as they reached the corner of the Eva Weatherington farm a loose connection caused a short circuit which put out their lights. Since they were within a mile of home they attempted to continue, using a flash light to guide them. Travelling at a slow speed, they ran off the road and astride the concrete abutment of the culvert at the entrance to Miss Weatherington's yard. The impact threw all of the occupants from their seats, causing painful bruises but in some manner which they were unaware of in the darkness, the small daughter sustained a deep gash across the forehead. She was rushed to Rochelle where Dr. Bogue dressed the wound and barring complications no other trouble is anticipated.

Farmers north of town within a wide radius met at Flagg Center on Saturday evening to form an organization to protect the wild game in this community, eighty-seven farmers have signed the petition. Officers elected were: president, Henry Kellerman, Flagg Center; Secretary, Harry Bearrows, Rochelle; treasurer, Isaac Bearrows, Rochelle. Directors are John Welmer, Roland Huntley, H. Kellerman. A committee appointed to work out further details of organization were Clarence Tilton, Rass Baker, and Ernest Colley. Duties assigned to assist the sheriff, subject to his approval were Harry Bearrows, Floyd Bennet, Jake Snider, G. Fowler, Roland Huntley and Rass Baker.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Young were guests at the home of Mrs. Janet Dugdale on Thursday on Friday Mr. and Mrs. George Jones of Tulsa, Oklahoma and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hoffman of Sterling were her guests. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cross of Flagg Station were hosts to a group of friends at six o'clock dinner on Friday. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beaman and Miss Thelma, Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Lanning, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harns, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Glosser, Mr. and Mrs. Mort Glosser.

Mrs. Lucy Cummings of Oklahoma is visiting relatives and friends in the community.

Mrs. Reuben Tower of Chana was hostess to the Pine Rock Women's club at her home on Friday, all but five members of the club attending the club institute which was conducted by Mrs. Florence Stroth of Stillman Valley. At noon a bountiful pot luck dinner was served and the afternoon devoted to the discussion of club affairs. Mrs. Tower is one of three great grandmothers who are active members of the club, the other two being Mrs. Willis Grant and Mrs. Janet Dugdale. All three were present at the meeting and assisted in making the afternoon one of pleasure and profit.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hardesty were hosts to the Grove card club on Saturday evening. Fred Hardesty was awarded honors for high score and N. T. Grover awarded consolation. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hardesty will be hosts next Saturday evening. Miss Laura Billmire and Mary Lois Pfeiffer were hosts to their Sunday school class at a social event on Friday evening.

Mrs. T. T. Grover has been quite ill.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Y. Tilton were hosts to Frank Tilton and Mrs. Viola Sanford at dinner on Sunday, the dinner being in honor of R. Y. Tilton's birthday anniversary.

The regular meeting of the New Era society of the Presbyterian church will be held on Thursday. A most interesting program has been prepared and it is hoped that a large attendance will greet the speakers. Mrs. Marhews of Morrison, who has spent some time in Japan, will appear on the program and Mrs. Nicholas, wife of the pastor at Chana and Lighthouse, will also be a speaker. The Rev. and Mrs. Nicholas are returned missionaries to China. Special music has been arranged for Mrs. John Charters will sing and Miss Francis Wood will also take part. Miss Nellie Griffith will have charge of the devotion.

Fred Bork who has been a patient at St. Mary's hospital at DeKalb was brought home on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Williams, for many years residents of the Grove but now living in Rochelle, were hostess to a group of friends in honor of their forty-sixth wedding anniversary on Thursday. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Drummond, Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Leckron, Mr. and Mrs. William Ling, Mr. and Mrs. L. Booth, Mr. and Mrs. Williams are the parents of Mrs. Grace Marsh, former pastor of the Church of God of Dixon.

Officers for the Ashton Masonic order were installed at the regular meeting on Tuesday evening. Installing master was Lee Shotenkirch, installing marshal, Earl Pierce, installing chaplain, Carl Schade.

Officers installed were: Worthy Master—Raymond Losey Senior Warden—Harvey Reitz Junior Warden—Edwin Orner Treasurer—John Drummond Secretary—Otto Schade Chaplain—E. F. Chapman Marshal—Earl Pierce Senior Deacon—Clifford Schafer Junior Deacon—Floyd Schafer Senior Steward—Vernon Smith Junior Steward—Fred Wood Organist—John Charters Tyler—Henry Oesterhe'd

Mrs. Isaac Trask was hostess to the Kings Herald on Saturday. Miss Laura Billmire and Robert Rosecrans had charge of the story telling. Winnie Knapp and Betty Witzell served refreshments and Norma Jenkins and her brother, Randall took the lead in the games.

Disorders Break Out In Bombay

Bombay, India, Jan. 12 — (UP)— Serious disorders broke out again today for the first time in recent weeks of the civil disobedience movement.

Police clashed repeatedly with independence volunteers and members of the congress who attempted to force a hartal or strike in protest against execution of four men charged with murder of a policeman at Sholapur. About 150 persons were injured, at least 25 of them seriously.

FIRST VIEW OF AIRPLANE

Hollis, N. H. —(UP)— This town had to wait until the waning days of 1930 to get its first close-up glimpse of a flying machine. Many residents inspected an airplane for the first time recently when Joseph Fluet, aviator, made a forced landing in Arthur Strong's cow pasture. It was the first time in town history that an airplane had landed here.

FARMERS URGED TO MODERNIZE BUILDINGS NOW

Told They Should Capitalize Present Low Prices For Work

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 13.—(UP)—Owners of antiquated farm houses in Illinois which were built to meet the needs of another day were urged to capitalize present low prices of labor and materials to modernize their buildings by W. A. Foster, rural architectural specialist, in a speech to farmers attending the annual Farm and Home Week here today. The College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, are sponsors of the meeting.

Foster declared that a great majority of the quarter of a million farm houses in the state are of the antiquated type, that they are spread out over the farm and that modern methods have eliminated these buildings thus turning past drudgeries into simple tasks by improved methods and labor saving equipment.

Today, he said, all tasks are done, the equipment sheltered and the storage made within the four walls of the farm house.

Farmers also heard talks by other agricultural specialists on various subjects.

Dr. W. B. Nevins, associate chief in dairy cattle feeding at the University, declared there were great possibilities for the future in the use of power with which to artificially dry hay. He warned against the grinding of good quality roughage grain for dairy cattle as being unnecessary and uneconomical.

Growth of boys and girls' Four-H baby beef clubs was declared by R. R. Snapp, beef cattle husbandry specialist, as being responsible for fat steers being fixtures at county fairs.

L. E. Sawyer, extension forester, discussing woodland management, declared that "whether or not farm timber is profitable is determined by proper selection of the trees to be cut and the products into which they are made."

"Diseased, undesirable, crooked, bushy-topped and mature trees should be removed in the order named and then some that are too thick taken out to give those remaining a chance to grow faster," he said. "Trees less than 16 inches in diameter at 4-12 feet above the ground should not be cut, for they will be more valuable if left until they reach a larger size."

There are forces at work in the United States which will require that present crop acreages be increased some in the future in order to care for the increasing population, despite the fact the surpluses are now the bane of American farmers, Dr. O. E. Baker, a senior agricultural economist in the federal department of agriculture, declared.

Only increase in the use of fertilizers will make such an increased acreage unnecessary, Baker said.

"Soil resources of the United States are being depleted rapidly and many millions of acres of land formerly cultivated are being abandoned largely because of erosion," he said. "On the other hand, fertilizers and crop rotations, including use of legumes, can restore the elements of fertility lost by crop removal and leaching. Furthermore, there is much low-grade land, now in pasture or forest, that can be cultivated to replace the land lost by erosion."

"This depletion of resources, however, tends to increase the cost of production. The loss of soil by erosion, particularly, will cause serious local and even regional declines in agricultural production and income. This will be accompanied, doubtless, by increases in production and income in other parts of the nation."

Farm Radio Program

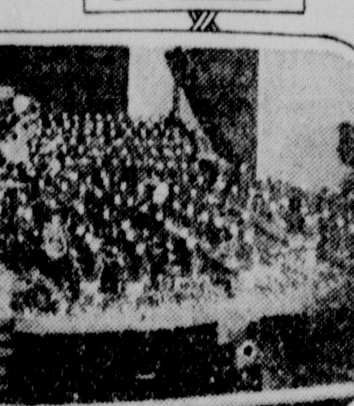

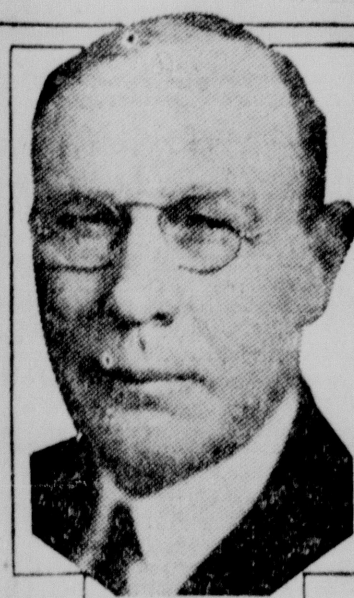

Horticulturists and soil scientists of the Department of Agriculture will provide program features of the National Farm and Home Hour to be broadcast through a network of 40 associated stations of the National Broadcasting Company the week beginning Monday, Jan. 19.

Department horticulturists will appear on Tuesday, Jan. 20, in the broadcast of the January meeting of the Progressive Garden Club, presided over by Mr. W. R. Beattie.

Dr. Charles Thom, micro-biologist, and Dr. C. C. Fletcher, soil scientist, will speak in the series of talks on new knowledge of soil management arranged by the Bureau of Chemistry and soils in the National Farm and Home Hour programs for the month.

The complete program for the week follows: Monday, Jan. 19—"Working with Soil Organisms," by Charles Thom, micro-biologist, Bureau of Chemistry and Soils; "Putting Weather Reports

Attention to Small Details in the Feeding of Livestock

The wise stock feeder realizes that careful attention to little details pays well in the end. The health and comfort of the animals, their individual likes and temperaments and many other things seemingly small accounts for a great deal in successful feeding.

Rough treatment, excitement and noise prevent the best results in feeding.

Other things of equal importance are the ration that is palatable to the animal, the one that will accomplish the best results, and yet many rations that are at first distasteful to animals may afterwards become quite palatable if the animal is given an opportunity to become accustomed to them.

Many animals like a little variation in the ration now and then. Sudden changes in feed are objectionable for all animals, but a little variation in the concentrates or roughage or a change of pasture, will often be worth the trouble.

A successful feeder will carefully watch his animals, observe the results of the different rations and systems of feeding, and will learn much through experience and experimentation on his own farm.

To work," by Arthur J. DeMars, meteorologist, Weather Bureau.

Tuesday, Jan. 20—"January Meeting, Progressive Garden Club," by W. R. Beattie, horticulturist, Bureau of Plant Industry, presiding.

Thursday, Jan. 22—"The Householder's Calendar," by Mrs. Rowena Schmidt, Carpenter, assistant to the chief, Bureau of Home Economics; "New Knowledge of Soil Amendments," by Dr. C. C. Fletcher, soil scientist, Bureau of Chemistry and Soils.

Friday, Jan. 23—"The Farm Business Library," by M. S. Eisenhower, Director of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture; "The Week with the Farm Board," by Frank Ridgway, Director of Information, Federal Farm Board; second Farm Board speaker to be selected.

Saturday, Jan. 24—Land Grant College program.

The National Farm and Home Hour is broadcast from 11:30 A. M. to 12:30 P. M., Central Standard time.

VISIBLE GRAIN SUPPLY

New York, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The visible supply of American grain shows the following changes in bushels: wheat, increased 1,774,000; corn decreased 114,000; oats decreased 1,319,500; rye decreased 240,000; barley decreased 83,900.

Weekly Review of Agriculture by Farmers Paper

Chicago, Ill.—(AP)—Mild liquidation of short-fed steers is likely to feature the next month or two, the Prairie Farmer's market review said. It was already evident in late December, resulting in a break of 50 cents to $1 on middle grades of steers, the review said. "Such slashes in prices have provoked shutting off the supply repeatedly in the last two or three months and probably will continue to do so except that an erratic market can be expected. The net change in steer prices during this period is likely to be downward. Steer prices are higher than lamb or hog, hence are more vulnerable to unfavorable influences. December shipments of stocker and feeder steers to the country were greater than a year previous, the first time such a comparison has prevailed since last March.

"Several factors were responsible for pushing average prices for hogs down to a new low figure at the end of the year, although the Chicago top thus far held slightly above the previous low spot. The holding back of hogs to use more corn, or for higher prices is now reflected in relatively larger receipts. Demand for domestic consumption or for export probably is even weaker than during the fall, as employment has continued to slacken and foreign supplies have increased.

Top lambs have been fluctuating back and forth between $8 and $8.75 at Chicago most of the time since late October. This seems to be preparation for a fair advance up to late winter. Demand for wools has been confined largely to finer grades, with prices held steady.

"The Grain Stabilization Corporation is still the dominant factor in domestic cash wheat markets and is carrying the burden of heavy supplies. Foreign markets developed a little appearance of stability in the last week of 1930, but it is not yet clear that they have reached a final turning point. Growers in the Middle West have been taking advantage of the prices maintained by the Stabilization Corporation to dispose wheat.

"Corn prices have declined over 40 percent from the August high point and appear unduly low considering the size of the supply. They reached a level at the end of December which cut down receipts sharply and stimulated cash demand. Hay is one of the few articles in which farmers are receiving more money than a year ago, but farmers buy most of the hay entering commerce, hence these prices must be paid by those who live in the deficit areas.

Production of creamery butter is greater than a year ago. "Colder weather seems to be checking the increase in egg production. Low returns to producers in recent weeks may also have had a discouraging effect on winter egg production. Prices remain fairly steady."

Farming Factors

Washington.—(UP)—The old fallacy that profitable pecan crops could be grown without the use of commercial fertilizers has been disproved by the Agriculture Department, after 10 years of experimentation.

Dr. J. J. Skinner of the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, has prepared a leaflet entitled "Fertilization for Pecan Soils," just published in which he gives formulas for successful pecan fertilizers.

For bearing trees, Dr. Skinner recommends a fertilizer containing 5 per cent nitrogen, 10 per cent phosphoric acid and 3 per cent potash. A mixture of 6 per cent nitrogen, 3 per cent phosphoric acid and 3 per cent potash is suggested for young trees. Both mixtures have proved successful after years of trial and are now in use by a number of large southeastern growers, according to Dr. Skinner.

Large-scale fertilizer experiments with pecans have been carried out in bearing orchards in cooperation with commercial growers, and the results of these tests—shown in tabular form in the leaflet—indicate a profitable increase in the productivity of pecan trees through the use of fertilizers. Dr. Skinner emphasizes that commercial fertilizers alone will not maintain the soil fertility of a pecan orchard and states that the growing of cover crops and the incorporation of organic matter is of equal importance.

Sanitary Forces Of State Dwindle

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 13.—Illinois alone is paying a toll of not less than twenty million dollars annually for animal diseases and yet the ranks of the veterinary sanitary forces have been depleted to the point where scarcely enough graduates are being turned out to replace vacancies in the Federal bureau of animal industry, not to mention the need of practitioners in city and urban districts, according to Dr. Robert Graham, chief in animal pathology and hygiene at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

An adequate veterinary personnel is essential not only for agriculture but also for protection of public health, Dr. Graham pointed out. With two large livestock centers in the state's borders and the speeding up of transportation facilities, a contagious disease at any point on the continent constitutes a potential threat to the husbandry and public of Illinois, he explained.

In Illinois there are approximately seven million people who are dependent upon 11,000 physicians for information regarding health. This is approximately one physician to every 633 persons. In the same territory there is a population of about 33,000,000 food-producing animals including barnyard fowls. The state has about 600 veterinarians who are especially trained in the suppression of animal diseases. The average Illinois veterinarian's services extend to 50,000 potential animal patients. This is one veterinarian to each 3,300 dairy cows, 3,300 hogs, 1,163 sheep, 583 dogs and 1,666 chickens.

Certain of the animal diseases such as tuberculosis, rabies, glanders, anthrax, Brucella infection of cattle, goats, swine and possibly chickens, sore throat and certain specific dermatoses, actinomycosis and a group of parasitic infections, including ringworm, pork and beef measles and trichina, are communicable to man.

Some diseases of man traceable to animals may be most hopefully suppressed by the veterinarian. To this end the veterinarian may be advantageously used in extending meat and milk inspection programs, while physicians may be assisted in checking diseases of man traceable to animals by working with veterinarians, Dr. Graham said.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

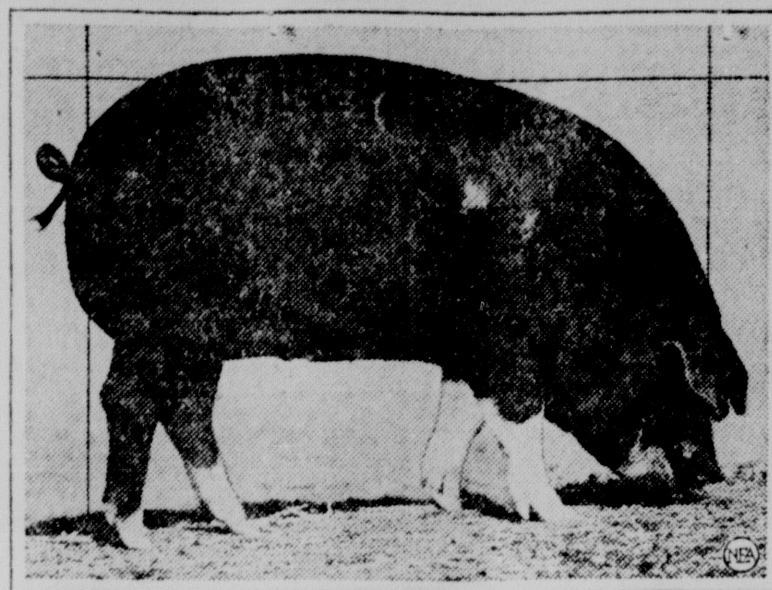

ANSWERS "DISCONTENTED."

Editor Telegraph: An answer for the discontented advocate of farm life from Amboy by a booster of farm implements and their manufacturers.

If the farmer would only stop and consider before he cries, "farm depression he might overcome a few of his difficulties. The war spoiled the farmer more than any other class of people of the universe. Cost of living, cost of production was cheap in fact, so cheap that it was a mere factor in comparison to the outrageous price he received for his products, and now that things are more on the level he cannot come down to earth. City folks, it is true received high wages during the war and after, but the cost of living was in comparison.

The farmer paid hundreds of dollars for an acre of ground, and that's his chief difficulty today and not so much the low prices of farm products which he likes to make the nation believe. It is true that the whole nation is under depression, but why not, if one is receiving enough to eat, be a true blue American and instead of crying, find a way out of the difficulties that face the whole nation and not centered on the farm

Here's An Ideal Porker

Robber's Maid 40th, this sow is called, but it's no ordinary one. She is nationally famous, having been selected by the U. S. Department of Agriculture as the ideal market type. The sow is owned by the University of Idaho College of Agriculture, at Moscow, and has won many prizes.

alone. As far as farm implements, tractors, etc., it is true they are high, but did the farmer think of that ten years ago when he paid three or four hundred dollars an acre for land and sold his produce for exorbitant prices? That machinery he used to reap his harvests was not high in comparison and I wonder does the farmer think he should receive it for a song?

Where does his wages come from? The cost of manufacture is based largely on the wage earner. If the farmer will buy the machinery that he needs for his vocation, use it carefully and keep it in repair, (for more machinery rusts out than wears out) he will soon learn that farm machinery at its price today will pay for itself a hundred times.

If that discontented advocate of farm life will use his head for more than a hat rack or a living for the barber and his hands in administering farm machinery more than his automobile and quit trying to bring the city to his farm in every possible way that he can contrive, he will find that good men and women can still keep on farming and make a success of it. There are many farmers today carefully stowing away many a dollar and he's the man who does not squawking, but busies himself on his farm instead of loafing in the town hall or pool room crying for sympathy for the "poor depressed farmer."

I have seen both sides of life, that of farmer and that of wage earner in a shop where farm machinery is manufactured and I believe that the farmer stands as high in prosperity as the average laboring people. It's true that for a short period the farmer's day have long hours, but what about the laborer? He works six days a week nine or ten hours and he works fifty-two weeks a year.

In defense of A. W. Leland and all farm implement manufacturers.

Don't Feed Decayed Potatoes To Horses

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Botulism, a form of poisoning, may result from the feeding of decayed sweet potatoes to horses, Chief Veterinarian M. H. Welch, said today. An investigation made by Dr. E. Nesbitt, an assistant in the state veterinary department, into the deaths of six horses on a Union county farm has revealed that the horses fed on decayed potatoes and in a period of three weeks contracted an ailment that was fatal.

The owner of the horses, in culling out his sweet potato crop, found some to be spotted and decayed and discarded them. The horses grazed over the patch and fed on the decayed potatoes, samples of which were subjected to a laboratory test by Dr. Robert Graham of the University of Illinois. The chemist reported the samples revealed virulent cultures of Cl Botulinum.

Livestock Data To Be Broadcast

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 13.—(UP)—First hand information on problems and accomplishments of their cooperative livestock marketing agencies will be furnished Illinois Farmers at a series of annual meetings, the first of which was held by the Peoria Producers Commission Association, here today.

Other meetings which will follow are:

January 20, the St. Louis Producers Commission Association at the National Stock Yards at East St. Louis.

March 10, Chicago Producers Commission Association at Chicago.

March 11, National Livestock Producers Commission Association at Chicago, and:

February 19, Cincinnati Producers Commission Association at Cincinnati, O.

The Livestock Marketing Department of the Illinois Agricultural Association is urging Illinois livestock producers to attend these annual conventions to obtain information of the development in the modern marketing system.

Many To Cooperate In Disease Fight

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Approximately 1,000 cattle owners will cooperate with the Bang disease control project sponsored by the agricultural experiment station at the University of Illinois and the state department of agriculture in 1931, according to a forecast made by Dr. W. H. Welch, chief veterinarian.

This forecast is based upon the rapid growth that this program has made in recent months. There are now 449 cattle owners, scattered over 75 Illinois counties, who have voluntarily subjected their herds to tests to seek accreditation as free from this disease. The cattle in

Co. Dairy Herd Averages Given For Past Annum

Amboy, Ill., Jan. 13.—Yearly herd averages promise well according to K. S. Albrecht, tester of Lee county Dairy Herd Improvement Association, several herds will show an average of more than 400 pounds of fat.

"Dairy herd improvement work is of inestimable value to me," said one member of the Lee county association. "My eight cows are returning me more than the average herd owner with 14 cows."

There were 460 cows on test in this association with 80 dry, 17.4 per cent. Production for the association was 321,323 pounds of milk and 12,245.7 pounds of fat, an average of 700 pounds of milk and 26.6 pounds of fat, in December.

Cows to the number of 106 produced more than 40 pounds of fat. Three were culled, 3 purchased a grade Guernsey, fresh Nov. 26. Aaron Fluck had high cow of the association, her record being 1,290 pounds of milk and 68.7 pounds of fat. Soy bean meal is being used to good advantage, lowering feed costs.

High herd belonged to I. A. Falvere & Son. Eight grade and P. B. Holsteins produced and average of 1262 pounds of milk and 41.1 pounds of fat. Robbins Bros. ranged next with an average of 1219 pounds of milk and 40.7 pounds of fat from 11 grade and P. B. Holsteins. Bowden Jesse with 10 grade and P. B. Jerseys averaged 839 pounds of milk and 40.1 pounds of fat. Five P. B. Holsteins of Raymond Degner averaged 1010 pounds of milk and 37.5 pounds of fat. Eight P. B. and grade Guernseys of Aaron Fluck averaged 688 pounds of milk and 33.5 pounds of fat.

BOWLING NEWS

"A" League

A two weeks lay off and of idea of shooting at new pins seemed too much for the majority of bowlers last week. Low scores were recorded in all matches.

The Quality Cleaners defeated Louie's Hungry Five two out of three but only by a few pins each game. Floyd Smith battled the new maples and won high single game honors with 208 and also carried away series honors with 571. The cleaners now reside in 4th place in standings.

The Brown Shoe Company started the new year right by winning all three games from Fallstrom Florists. Bob Harridge's performance with a high single of 242 and a series of 615 proved best for this match. This increases Harridge's average to 186 or third place in standings. Fallstrom with 185 holds fourth place.

The Walnut Grove Products, with a team series of 2901 proved high pin smashers for the week, with this series they collected three more wins from the None-Such Foods. Frank Kness cracked up a 242 count to con single game honors. He also claimed series honors with a 615. This gives the Walnut Groves a four game lead in team standings.

Vaile & O'Malley bettered themselves by winning two out of three from the Eichler Clothiers. Carl Becker with 221 rolled high single game for the match and also succeeded in laying claim to series honors with 549. Frank Cleary with 190 still claims second place in individual averages, while Ed Worley, with 195, holds first.

"B" League

In the B League last week the Oakland Pontiacs won two out of three from the I. N. U. five. Henson, with a series of 506 and a single game of 188, was deemed best man in this event.

The Crystal Barbers with grim determination landed two wins from the league leading Sterling Pharmacy, which brings about a tie with three teams for first place.

Russell Bowers, with 199, won single game honors, while Paul Newcomer rolled consistently to win series honors with 558.

SPORT BRIEFS

Chicago, Jan. 13—(AP)—Lou Barbour, Jr., will travel under the eye of his father, Lou Barbour, traveling secretary of the White Sox, next summer—if he shows qualifications for a major league pitcher. Manager Donie Bush has signed the youngster, a southpaw, for a trial with the Sox.

Chicago, Jan. 13—(AP)—Chicago's twenty-fifth international six-day bicycle race will be decided at the Chicago Stadium Feb. 7 to 14. John M. Chapman, manager of the grind, announced today. Fifteen teams, including the outstanding stars from Europe and Australia, will compete with the American riders, he said.

Chicago, Jan. 13—(AP)—The trials and tribulations of Pete Wistort, young Chicago heavyweight, continue. About a year ago Wistort saved $9 from a stickup man by slamming the fellow on the jaw. But he fractured his right hand and was unable to pursue his trade for nine months. Last night in a bout with Andy Spinks of Grand Rapids, Mich., Pete launched a murderous right swing, missed, and fell on his face. The fall caused him to suffer a fracture of the right shoulder and Spinks was awarded a technical knockout victory.

Bob Shawkey's Wife Is Pneumonia Victim

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 13—(AP)—A scant twenty minutes after her husband had left Jacksonville aboard an airplane in an effort to reach her bedside, Mrs. Jacqueline Shawkey, wife of Bob Shawkey, former New York Yankee manager, died in a hospital here early today.

Mrs. Shawkey, who was 37 years old and a native of Denver, Colo., succumbed to pneumonia, an ailment with which she was stricken shortly after arriving here from New York last Friday.

When her condition became critical a chartered plane was dispatched to Jacksonville yesterday for Shawkey, who was enroute here from the north by train. Shawkey reached Jacksonville earlier in the night, but his departure by plane was delayed until 12:10 a. m. today because of bad weather.

Macon Co. Farmer Named Corn King

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 13—(AP)—Selma W. Spaulding has retained the title of Illinois Corn King for Macon county and regained it for his sex.

Spaulding's exhibit of ten ears of white corn took the grand championship in the Illinois seed grain and utility corn show yesterday, feature event of the 33rd annual Farm and Home Week of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Last year the prize went to 13-year-old Mildred Riley of Morro, Macon county. This year marked the first time in the memory of the show's oldest veteran that white corn won first prize. Spaulding's corn scored 78.6 points out of a possible 100. His son, Selma, Junior, won first prize for ten ears of white corn in junior classes for members of 4-H clubs.

The grand championship in this class went to Clarence Imhoff of Roanoke with ten ears of yellow corn. Thomas Spaulding of Macon won first prize for a single ear in junior classes.

John Maland of Leland won among adults with ten ears of yellow corn. Nine hundred eighteen farmers, rural leaders and delegates from county units of the Illinois Home Bureau Federation had registered for the show which will last all week. Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, is expected to speak Friday morning.

Second Round For Cagers Tomorrow

The industrial basketball league will start on the second round of play in the series tomorrow evening which will begin at 7 o'clock at the new Moore hall court. Several new players have enlisted and have been assigned to the various teams of the league. The captains of the various teams at a recent meeting decided that Forrest Suter of this city would be acceptable to all captains to referee all of the remaining games of the tournament.

With the signing of several new players the teams have been materially strengthened and basketball fans of Dixon and vicinity are assured of plenty of active entertainment for the remainder of the schedule. The games each week are well deserving of a large attendance in the first game tomorrow evening the Dixon State Hospital team meets the Illinois Northern Utilities company. The Dixon Battery Shop and the Merchants will perform in the second set and the final game of the evening will see the league leaders the Reynolds Wire company be opposed by the American Body and Cab company.

New Rule Adopted For Ranking Stars

New York, Jan. 13—(AP)—National tennis rankings in the future will be made on the basis of play abroad as well as at home under a new ruling approved by the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

The U. S. L. T. A.'s action was interpreted in some quarters as paving the way for the ranking of Big Bill Tilden and Mrs. Helen Wills Moody as this country's No. 1 aces during the 1931 season.

Tilden won the Wimbledon title abroad but failed to appear to advantage when he returned home, losing in the national championship to Johnny Doe. Mrs. Moody was unbeaten in a foreign campaign but did not defend her American title.

HEAVIES ASKED TO SIGN UP TO FIGHT 3 TIMES

Unusual Demand Made Of Young Stribling By Milk Fund

BY HERBERT W. BARKER (Associated Press Sports Writer) New York, Jan. 13—(AP)—The complex heavyweight situation has reached the point where the fighters are being asked to sign not for one bout but for three.

The plight of Young Bill Stribling, Macon, Ga., contender, might be taken as an example. Young Bill's father-manager, "Pa" Stribling, was all set to sign Bill to a title match with Max Schmeling in June. Now they're asking him to agree to two more battles in the event that Stribling relieves Schmeling of the championship.

They want Bill first to meet Primo Carnera in September, "they" being the Hearst Milk Fund officially and Bill Carey, President of Madison Square Garden, unofficially. Then they would have Stribling agree to fight again in 1931 against the best available opponent for the Milk Fund alone. Under the terms of this three-fight proposal, Stribling would post $25,000 of his 12½ per cent cut in the Schmeling-Stribling race as a forfeit for the match with Carnera.

"Pa" Stribling took this offering under advisement although it was plain he was not particularly pleased with it. Yesterday's conferences were between Milk Fund promoters, representatives of Stribling and Schmeling and Bill Carey, American manager of Carnera. Bill Carey was not there for a New York Commission order forbids, under pain of suspension, any promoter to negotiate with a suspended fighter.

Carnera has been under suspension here since his unsatisfactory bout with Leon Chevalier in California last year, and Schmeling and his manager, Joe Jacobs, were placed under the ban last week when the commission vacated Der Maxie's crown because he failed to agree immediately to a title bout with Jack Sharkey.

"Navy Bill" Signed Up By California

Berkeley, Cal., Jan. 13—(UP)—Announcement that William A. "Navy Bill" Ingram would coach the University of California football team for the next three years brought to an end today speculation—which included the name of every famous football player in the country—as to the Bear's future grid mentor.

Although the salary figure was not made public, it was understood that the former Annapolis All-America coach would receive approximately $10,000 a year.

He will report for spring practice some time in March.

Seven names, it was said, were considered for the position. "Navy Bill," who disclosed Sunday that he had resigned from the Navy, succeeds Clarence "Kits" Price whose unfortunate season in 1930 caused him to give up the position of head coach of football for that of basketball.

Six Carloads Snow Shipped For Tourney

Chicago, Jan. 13—(UP)—Six freight cars, loaded with snow, are being brought from Escanaba, Mich., to Fox River Grove, Ill., to enable the National ski tournament to hold its annual championship meet at Carey Hill slide Jan. 18. Lack of snowfall in Illinois made it necessary to transport snow more than 300 miles to surface the 150-foot runway and 300-foot slide for the championship.

KING LEVINSKY AT CROSSROADS OF HIS CAREER

The Former $100 Preliminary Boxer Facing Supreme Test

By DIXON STEWART (United Press Staff Correspondent) Chicago, Jan. 13—(UP)—King Levinsky, pride of the Chicago Ghetto, reaches the crossroads of his career in a 10-round bout with Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo at Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

The King wins he has an opportunity to march onward to pugilistic fame. If he loses—and this "wise money" is offering 9 to 5 odds that he will—Levinsky has little prospect for the future other than ultimate return to his career as a fish peddler which he deserted last year for a flash across the fistie horizon.

The King's four months career is unparalleled in boxing history. Under the guidance of Al Miller he advanced from a $100 preliminary bout of questionable courage to a $11,000 main event performer. In his last four starts, he knocked out Leo Lomski and Tom Kirby, won a questionable decision from Slattery and was outpointed by Tommy Loughran. Miller transformed him from a fighter whose courage was a matter of official investigation—the result of Levinsky's action in jumping from the ring and running to his dressing room to escape punishment during a bout—to Chicago's greatest drawing card.

Primarily A Slugger

Levinsky primarily is a slugger, with no pretensions of boxing skill. He has reached the stage where he must meet the best men in his division, men who can box as well as hit. And Slattery can do both.

Since his last ring appearance Levinsky has broken with Manager Miller following a dispute over financial matters. Miller now is anxious to see Levinsky beaten and is aiding the Slattery camp in preparations for tomorrow's bout. Levinsky's new manager, Ray Alvis, says the King will be a better fighter because of the split with Miller and is wagering that his protégé will knock Slattery out. Levinsky was "trained wrong" by Miller and really is an exceptionally clever boxer, according to Alvis.

Slattery gave Levinsky a masterly boxing lesson in their previous meeting last November, although the judges fumbled the decision and gave the verdict to Levinsky. Slattery, twice world light heavyweight champion and one of the best boxers in the ring, has trained seriously for the return engagement and will enter the ring as an odds-on favorite.

Levinsky's supporters point out that the King needs but one punch to win and profess to believe that he will catch Slattery some time during the bout and score a knock-out.

British Racer To Sail For U. S. Wed.

New York, Jan. 13—(AP)—Captain Malcolm Campbell, British sportsman, apparently is fully convinced that the financial controversy between authorities of Daytona Beach and Representatives of the American Automobile Association will prevent his proposed attempt to set a new world's automobile speed record on the Florida sands next month.

Campbell announced in London that he would sail for the United States tomorrow. With him he will bring his new 1400 horsepower Bluebird racer with which he hopes to shatter the present record of 231 miles an hour set by the late Sir Henry Segrave in 1929.

"The row has nothing to do with me," Campbell said. "I have had no word from the A. A. A. to stay away which I should have had if the trials had been definitely abandoned."

The controversy revolves about the adequacy of the sum of $4,000 Daytona Beach has offered to cover the actual costs of staging the trials.

Spent Stolen Dime And Landed In Jail

Canton, Ill., Jan. 12—(AP)—William Strobaugh of Farmington, Ill., spent a dime at the wrong time. As a result, he was in county jail at Lewistown, Ill., today awaiting grand jury action on a burglary charge.

The dime, of Canadian mintage, was once the pocket piece of Frank Tracy, Farmington grocer. His place was entered Saturday night and, along with a quantity of groceries, the dime was taken from his trousers pocket.

Strobaugh was seen spending the dime by Herman Tracy, son of the grocer. He reported it to the police and Strobaugh was immediately arrested.

It was reported by the police that a quantity of the groceries was found in Strobaugh's home.

Raskob Denies He Has Bought Party

Washington, Jan. 13—(AP)—A direct defense against criticism of his chairmanship of the Democratic National Committee was made last night by John J. Raskob.

He made public a letter addressed to Frank R. Kent, columnist for the Baltimore Sun, terming untrue statements Kent had written concerning him in a recent article. The chairman summed up Kent's assertions as: "In short that I have bought and paid for the party."

Chicago Angles For Sharkey-Griffiths

Chicago, Jan. 13—(UP)—With hope of securing the Max Schmeling-Young Stribling championship bout virtually abandoned, Chicago Stadium officials today considered plans for a contest between Tuffy Griffiths and Jack Sharkey as a substitute feature for their 1931 boxing program.

Griffiths' manager, Jack O'Keefe, has issued an open challenge to Sharkey and is awaiting the return of Matchmaker Nate Lewis from New York to start an active campaign to secure the bout. With Sharkey apparently left out in plans for Madison Square Garden's 1931 heavy-weight program, O'Keefe believes the Boston sailor will reconsider previous refusals to meet Griffiths.

NORTHWESTERN TAKES LEAD IN BIG TEN'S RACE

Defeats Illinois In A Rousing Battle Of Personal Fouls

Chicago, Jan. 13—(AP)—Just a little more than a week old, the Western Conference basketball race today was well scrambled with Northwestern in first place, Wisconsin and Purdue, usually fighting for the lead, were one jump out of the cellar.

Northwestern accounted for its second straight triumph last night, defeating Illinois, 29 to 27, after a rousing battle in which 35 personal fouls were called. The defeat just about sounded taps for Illinois' hopes, it being the third straight setback.

Michigan was expected to defeat Wisconsin, and did it by a 23 to 17 score, but no one figured Iowa to take Purdue. The Hawkeyes, however, got out in front early in the contest and had enough left to stave off a desperate Boilermaker rally at the finish. The defeat was Purdue's second in three games.

Led by Norm Daniels, the only big man on the team, Michigan paced Wisconsin from start to finish, finding difficulty only at the finish when Ted Chmielewski broke loose for two field goals. Michigan moved into third place with two victories and one defeat, while the Badgers dropped down to a tie with Purdue.

$30,000,000 IN SPECIAL TAXES: YOU SHARE IN THIS BILL

Buyers of fire insurance indirectly but actually contribute a vast sum—approximately $30,000,000 annually—through taxes, most of which are of a special nature, additional to the regular taxes borne by insurance companies in common with other lines of industry.

The original purpose of special taxes upon insurance was to maintain state supervision, but such supervision uses but four cents of each dollar. The balance goes into the general funds of the states.

These special taxes and the taxes upon property which insurance companies pay in common with all other owners of property are factors in the cost of fire insurance.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States says:

"... Special State Taxes now levied on Policyholders through insurance companies should not be considered as a source of general revenue, but should be reduced to the total in each state which will adequately support such state's departmental supervision..."

Two Near Death On Highway Sunday

Adolpho Perez and A. Martinez, residing east of the city, narrowly escaped being instantly killed Sunday afternoon about 5 o'clock while one of the students was making a landing. The nose of the glider was slightly damaged, but the student flier escaped without injury. The damaged glider will be repaired at once.

Perez sustained cuts about the head and was bruised about the body and Martinez was badly bruised and is suffering from a probable skull fracture. The men were returning from Sterling when the accident occurred.

Incendiary Fire In Peoria Is Probed

Peoria, Jan. 12 (UP)—Deputy State Marshal Walter Parlier said today he had discovered evidence that a fire which caused $5000 damage last night in the Weinstein Milling Company resulted from incendiary.

Gunny sacks soaked with gasoline and papers strewn about the mill were discovered, Parlier said. The building was reported to have been insured for $60,000.

Charles C. Weinstein, president, and Sam Heller, vice president of the milling company, were questioned by Parlier.

NOTE—No allowance for trade in on any of the above cars priced at $75.00 or lower, except at junk prices.

60 other bargains to choose from. Ask us about our five-day free driving trial.

You can buy any of the above cars and drive home with them knowing we will see you are satisfied. That is why we have sold so many.

Come in and see this display of fine cars whether you need a car or not. There has never been anything like it even in Chicago. Here we have a large, warm, comfortable two-story building, newly decorated and full of fine cars with the price plainly painted on the windshields, our regular prices in yellow figures and the sale prices in red figures.

This sale and these wonderfully low prices will last until our stock is reduced to a satisfactory figure and the sale will end as soon as we feel this has been done, whether that is three days or 10 days from now.
